Network Video

WHEN you walk into the bigger and better Network Video store at Lighthouse Plaza you are in the hands of video people.

Store owners Maryanne Brilley and Peta Goodwill saw a need for a quality entertainment provider and knew they could do it.

Network stores are not multi-national corporations, rather they are locally owned and staffed by videologists.

The staff at Network Video are experts in the field who have qualifications and the desire to help you get the best out of your night in.

According to Maryanne, the area deserved and required a quality video store.

"We knew this growing area needed a video store that would have something for everyone," she said.

"All of our staff are video people and have solid knowledge in the field."

From Thursday the store's opening hours will extend.

Maryanne said the staff at Network Video hoped to provide a great service for many years to come.
